The Value of Longer Hair

We get requests all the time (mostly in the summer) to do "complete shave downs" which is more practical in many ways.

However, "shorter" is not always "cooler" as many people believe. A longer coat, even during summer months actually insulates your pet from heat, keeping it cooler. The same principle applies in the winter; it will insulate it against the cold. Longer coats need more work though (brushing on a regular basis) and we need to see them every 3-8 weeks, in order to keep up with the coats.

Double coated dogs should not be shaved "to keep them cooler" in the summer either! Complete shave downs actually cause damage to the coat in these breeds, and hair will come back thicker than before. The SHED-LESS PROGRAM is ideal for them and they should also be seen every 8-12 weeks.

Testimonials

“Our family has been taking our dog Lucy to Wilna for the past two years. We have recommended Wilna to family, friends and colleagues. Everyone we have referred loves Wilna. Wilna takes grooming to the next level. Thank you for everything Wilna and TLC!”

The Hahn Family

“TLC Grooming has been my grooming choice for a few years now. I love bringing Daisy here. Wilna rebooks her so that she always looks great. The report card tells me that she was and is PAW-fect. Wilna is personal, able, caring, considerate and concerned with all of Daisy’s needs. We think Wilna is PAW-fect too!!!”

With love from,

Wilna and Quixote (Kijotie)

“I am very thankful that my friend Donna Johnson referred me to Wilna at TLC Grooming.

She pays attention to the dogs health, and made recommendations for our little Shih Tzu who has been having skin and ear problems for a long time. Keno is doing very well now!

Wilna is a caring groomer, we appreciate her help.

Thanks again!”
